

A world of technology expertise backed by local support.

We know that in today's expanding global marketplace, the needs of your technology company are expanding just as quickly. To accommodate these requirements, CNA offers foreign property and liability coverage for U.S.-based technology companies, in conjunction with other CNA policies, to protect your international exposures and business operations. We issue local admitted policies in various countries around the globe using our international network of branch offices and long-standing strategic partner relationships. This network allows us to service companies in more than 130 countries on five continents.

How do you know if you need international coverage?

If you answer "yes" to any of the questions below, international coverage for overseas property and liability exposures may be necessary.

- Does your company have any foreign sales, imports or exports?
- Does your company sell products over the internet?
- Do any company employees travel outside the U.S. on business?
- Does your company attend trade fairs or exhibitions overseas?
- Does your company have any overseas facilities, licensing, subcontracting or joint ventures?
- Does your company have any foreign suppliers?
- Does your company have any payroll outside the U.S.?
- Does your company have an Ocean Cargo policy in place?
